

SUPPORT FOR RESEARCHERS

Support for Researchers at the Library

The research support at the library has been around for a long time. To create awareness for the library research support and to develop the services we have formed a strategic group. Its task is to promote, evaluate and develop the library research support. The library aims to provide support and services to researchers at all levels within the university.

At the moment our main areas of support are:

- *Publishing
- *DiVA
- *ORCID
- *Open Access and Open Data
- *Bibliometrics
- *Search support
- *Reference Management
- *Interlibrary loans and purchases

Collaboration

Services described here are provided by the library. We are working to collaborate between the different functions at the library, but also with the whole university to provide better, and more comprehensive research support for all levels of researchers. As an example, we cooperate with the University Archives, and the Grants and Innovation Office regarding our publishing support.

Development

An important part in the development of research support is how we collect improvement suggestions and get feedback on how we can develop the services further. We value sharing reports and results with colleagues working with similar tasks in order to improve our skills, and develop better approaches for library research support.

We appreciate all suggestions for library research support you might have! for questions and suggestions for the library research support.
